3 of 3 review helpful An Excellent Choice By Dennis Hanseman This book is an edited collection of papers that survey the major topics in health economics Despite its origin the papers are all of high quality and are readable for anyone with a background in intermediate microeconomics The contributions by Berndt Donohue on direct to consumer advertising Cawley on addictive behavior and McGuire on physician fees A vast body of empirical evidence has accumulated demonstrating that incentives affect health care choices made by both consumers and suppliers of health care services Decisions in health care are affected by many types of incentives such as the rate of return pharmaceutical manufacturers expect on their investments in research and development or disincentives such as increases in copayments patients must make when they visit physicians or are admitted to hospital Incentives do matter This excellent set of articles by prominent economists demonstrates how health care decisions by consumers providers and students are affected by monetary and non monetary incentives This book should be of interest to everyone concerned
